Dr. Cain was present and answered questions by the Board. Dr. Cain stated she was the Medical Director of the National Laser Institute at the time the complainant was treated for the brown spot on her face, however did not see the patient prior to the incident, and was not the one who performed the procedure. Dr. Cain stated she was the physician who saw the patient when she presented 10 days post treatment. During the days prior to presenting to Dr. Cain, the patient admitted to using an ointment on the area which had been veterinarian prescribed to her dog. She also admitted to using an outdated over the counter medication on the area. She further reported presenting to a dermatologist, who had injected the area with Kenalog. Upon review of the records, it was discovered the patient had not signed the consent to treat form.

The complainant was present. After discussion, the Board stated concerns regarding the lack of follow up on the part of Dr. Cain. Although Dr. Cain had evaluated and treated the patient for a burn, she should have been more diligent and followed up with another in person encounter, Instead, Dr. Cain relied on a photo she received via email from the patient as the follow up.
